

2011 National Catholic Youth Conference Indianapolis, IN November 17-19, 2011

This conference is for any High School youth who will be in the 9th -12th grades beginning the 2011-2012 school year. NCYC, held biennially, gathers more than 20,000 Catholic teenagers and adult leaders. Young people learn about their faith, have the opportunity for prayer, reconciliation, and Eucharist, and faith formation. NCYC will be November 17-19, 2011 in Indianapolis, IN. (Yes this is still a few months away, but we need to start the planning process now.)

Fundraising and a Commitment to the NCYC 2011 Team

There are many ways we are able to raise funds to travel to Indy in 2011! This trip will be expensive, but I promise you if you work hard at all the fundraisers, you can/will be covered-I have explained this in my handout from Monday night. This trip will require a deposit of $100 and a signed commitment (due no later than May 31st) from you if you are attending and know for sure you are able to go November 17th-20th 2011. We will be gone an extra day as we have farther to travel this time. You will have to take this into consideration as most schools will not count this as an excused absence.

Why are we doing this NOW?

I know this sounds way too early to even be talking about it, but really it is a long process of registration and preparation. We need everybody pulling their weight and being involved but not only doing their part, but growing close relationships and friendships with someone from their parish.

Thank you so much for prayerfully considering the National Catholic Youth Conference Indy 2011. You will find it will be an awesome experience worshipping with 20,000 other Catholic teens. I am looking forward to the journey ahead.
